The East Carolina University (ECU) Emerging Scholars Symposium is for scholars nearing the end of their terminal degree studies and recent graduates, including postdoctoral scholars.

The program is designed to support East Carolina University’s faculty pipeline with an emphasis on scholars whose research interests align with our mission and strategic plan, Future focused. Innovation driven., and particularly with one or more of the University’s priorities and/or objectives that reflect our commitment to sustaining an inclusive environment and cultivating a culture of care, belonging and opportunity for all faculty, staff, and learners.

Symposium Benefits

• Networking with academic leaders and faculty
• Research presentations to faculty and students
• Campus and community tours
• Workshops and panel discussions regarding faculty careers at ECU

Apply Now

For more information about the Symposium, the criteria, and to apply online, access our website: Emerging Scholars Symposium.

Application Deadline: October 2, 2023

Seats are limited. Travel, lodging, and meals are covered for selected scholars.

Participants in the Symposium will (1) engage with ECU academic leaders, (2) learn about faculty life at ECU, and (3) showcase their research.